An epic journey reaches its glorious destination

Our Kings and Queens series began in 2008 and has explored 600 years of the British Monarchy. It now reaches a most fitting conclusion as we come to The House of Windsor in this year of Her Majesty The Queen's Diamond Jubilee.

This great Royal House began with the name Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, which was changed to Windsor by George V's Royal Proclamation in 1917, in order to emphasise the Britishness of the Monarchy at the height of the First World War.

The House of Windsor has now reigned for over a century of great achievements and dramatic events. Despite the turbulence of two world wars and the constitutional crisis of the abdication, it has done so with enormous dignity.

Therefore we are proud to present this Special issue as Britain prepares to celebrate only the second ever Diamond Jubilee in history; the first being that of Queen Victoria, the great-great-Grandmother of Her Majesty The Queen.
